
Philosophy

Transformative diversity leadership experiences must include knowledge about and hands-on engagement with HR, IT, academics, student services, and other professionals. Likewise, engagement with the families of young people must include components of social injustice and identity impairment in the process towards holistic healing.

Vision

To be widely known as a premier leader towards the next paradigm of transformative diversity leadership and education.

Coop Di Leu

Mission

We strive to impart worldwide value on transformative diversity leadership and education for 21st-century diversity professionals and contribute to the pipeline of people who embrace difference as a universal treasure.

ADVANCING A BETTER WORLDVIEW

Coop Di Leu (CDL) offers services that penetrate the entire institution and its relationships with external communities. Services are designed to temper administrative teams, councils, committees, and individuals for transformative approaches to diversity administration. We proudly serve our community as well with youth and family interventions.

NATIONAL TRAININGS: FROM $325.00/EA
Bringing diversity professionals together is core to the Coop Di Leu mission. We've proudly drawn hundreds of inspiring, emerging, and advanced diversity professionals to host institutions in Washington DC, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Oregon, New Jersey, and North Carolina. Each experience is designed to expose participants to transformative skillsets, expert advisors, and safe practice with the more challenging aspects of diversity work.

INSTITUTION SERVICES: FROM $350.00/HR
Direct engagement via workshops, climate research, audits, and residency is how Coop Di Leu completes its mission. Clients learn first-hand how to complete large and small scale diversity initiatives, and they learn core principles and structures that give greater returns on their investments. Workshops and retreats are half and full days. Climate work varies by breath. Residencies are several days to beyond a year.

CDL workshops empower clients to "see beyond the shell" in transformative and sustainable ways.

Understanding paradigms is a core principle in CDL leadership and education.

YOUTH & FAMILY: Income-based fee

Coop Di Leu is concerned and committed to service for underrepresented families and their members. Our engagements run from literacy series to personal coaching and family support. Specialization in identity constructs and counseling psychology makes experiences with our staff both fun and empowering.

Family coaching that ties generations, ethnicities, and resources.

Giving literacy a boost
Dr. Coop spends more than 500 hours annually with youth and male development programs.
